Golden Circle wins top award for packaging waste management

ONE of Australia's best known food and beverage manufacturers, Golden Circle, out-performed a cast of big names to claim the top award in Packaging magazine's inaugural Evolution Awards at the Melbourne Cricket Ground yesterday.

Dr Karli Verghese, of RMIT University's Centre for Design, and a member of the judging panel, noted Golden Circle's success in "reducing the impacts of packaging at all levels."

AIP IGD Technical Evening Thursday 16th November

Theme: Global Retail Trends A Future for FMCG Manufacturing

A Future for FMCG Manufacturing International Horizons in Retail Global Retailer Strategies

International retail is changing rapidly under the weight of global retailer muscle. Direct competition with FMCG manufacturers by global retailers with private labels, lowest cost global sourcing and brand destruction...add to this major supply chain pressures including shelf ready... and we are seeing an unprecedented consolidation of retail power on a world scale.

The AIP has secured speakers from the London based retail consultancy International IGD and we invite you to attend this special event to hear our guests deliver expert commentary on the global retail landscape, the future of FMCG manufacturing and the trends & strategies being employed by the largest retailers in the world. Our speakers will draw from international experience to highlight what it means for you - your brand, your company, your job...How are you going to respond?

It is more than a technical evening it is a mini-seminar in three hours...
So please book early to avoid missing out on this important event!
